

is Risperdal still on the market in the US?

Yes, Risperdal is still on the market in the United States as of late 2025.

While generic versions (risperidone) are widely available and often preferred by insurers due to lower cost, the brand-name products remain FDA-approved and available.

Here is the current status for the different forms of the medication:

- Oral Tablets & Solution: Brand-name Risperdal tablets and oral solution are still available.
- Long-Acting Injectable: The long-acting injectable version, Risperdal Consta, is also active on the market. (Note: Generic versions of this injectable began receiving FDA approval in late 2025).
- Discontinuation Note: You may see reports about Risperdal being discontinued, but this often refers to specific international markets (e.g., New Zealand, where the tablets were discontinued in late 2025) or specific dosage strengths that were phased out. In the US, the brand remains active.
